

What is it?

An online learning tool uses clear text and examples to convey cross-disciplinary knowledge, enabling users to understand the key points of each question effectively.

Who's this made for?

For users aged 6 and above who can read and have a vocabulary of 5,000 words in both Chinese and English.

How it works, and what's new?

You can customize your learning experience by picking subjects, setting study time, choosing a language, and selecting a difficulty level that match your interests.

The existing learning content includes Language (English, Bilingual English-Chinese, and Mandarin), STEM (Mathematics, Physics, and Technology), Business (Management and Financial Literacy), and Lifestyle (Arts, Design, and Sports). As of May 5th, 2024, the total word count of the question base is 125,760, with 40% being bilingual (Chinese and English) and purely Chinese content, and the remaining 60% consisting of English content.

Where can the product be used?

The product is online-based, so you can use it anywhere with internet—whether you're at home, on the go, or in any setting that suits your lifestyle.

Is it free to use?

There is a free version available, ideal for brief learning sessions. The $1750 Ultra version is ideal for self-learners and expands knowledge through a self-directed approach. Each month, the Ultra edition adds over 400 new questions, with 5% of these simultaneously shared with the trial version.

How do I activate my Ultra account?

After successfully paying online, users will receive an email with Ultra account login details within 24 hours on business days (Monday to Friday, 9am-6pm). They can log in and activate their account immediately. Payments are processed through Stripe, supporting Visa, MasterCard, and Alipay. This is a one-time payment with no hidden or extra fees, allowing for long-term use of the account.

Why the Q&A style for all questions?

A learning style that opens up a dialogue, calling for your participation.

Why can't there be more than two answer options?

Because this is NOT a test. After reviewing the question, you're prompted to decide between the provided either-or options.
